Latest Aborn Offering at Opera House Monday, Sept. 22.

Presenting a stage spectacle unique in the annals of light opera, the Aborn Opera Co., the most recently formed organization under the management of that duo of producers, Milton and Sargent Aborn, will shortly present here, Planchette's popular opera comique, "The Chimes of Normandy." The five scenes shown in the opera are built on the cyclorama plan and are the work of Reising, formerly of the Manhattan opera house, and P. Dodd Ackerman, under the supervision of Edward P. Temple, three names that stand for the best in the field to which their talent is devoted.

A strong cast, made up in the greater part of seasoned Aborn artists, with the addition of a few newcomers, should give to this charming French opera comique, an exceptional performance.—Adv.

INDIGESTION, GAS, DYSPEPSIA GONE

"Pape's Diapiesin" Fixes Sour, Bloating Stomachs and You Feel Fine in Five Minutes—Time It!

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it's really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

supreme court of Vermont is vacant. A petition has been signed by 28 members of the bar of Chittenden county and forwarded to Gov. Allen M. Fletcher requesting that he elevate Judge Loveland Munson to the chief justiceship. Judge Munson has been judge in the supreme court since 1889. He is in his seventieth year, in good health, with no impairment of his intellectual attributes and therefore completely fitted for useful service in the court as usual and no doubt honoring the title of Chief Justice. We understand that this petition was forwarded to the Governor several days ago. We also understand that several other counties are taking similar action.

Judge Munson has the respect and esteem of the entire bar of Vermont and is clean and upright in every particular. His long service on the bench, his legal ability and his irreproachable character well fit him for the honorable position. Gov. Fletcher will make no mistake in promoting Judge Munson and should he do so he would carry out the wish of a large majority of the people of the commonwealth.—Morrisville News and Citizen.

Would Be Different.

Here is one that was told by Senator Carroll S. Page of Vermont, in a Washington club the other night, in demonstrating that circumstances alter cases: Some time ago, the senator said, the pastor of a church in a small town went to pay a parochial call, and was not a little saddened on reaching the house to find evidence of a family scrap. "Brother James," reprovingly said the parson to the husband, "have you and your wife been quarreling again?" "Not much, parson," apologetically answered the husband. "You see, it was just a slight misunderstanding." "I am ashamed of you. I am indeed!" severely cried the dominie. "Why can't you learn a lesson from that cat and dog. They are only animals, and yet they sit there together in peace and happiness." "Yes, parson, so they do," replied the husband, "but just tie them together and see what happens."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Of course, there are many drug store wants that can safely be supplied anywhere. There are other things often required from a drug store when health and perhaps life depend upon the quality of drugs or service. At such times it is well to remember that this store has gained an enviable reputation for reliable service.

We use only the best grade of drugs and follow scientific methods in compounding.

Prices are always reasonable and alike to all. Find a good store and stick to it. We should like to be your family druggists.

The Best Exercise for Fat Women.

William J. Cromie, an instructor in gymnastics in the University of Pennsylvania, writes an article in the October Woman's Home Companion entitled "Keeping a Good Figure," in which he says:

"One of the best exercises for the muscles of the abdomen, back, and hips, and for keeping down fat in these parts, is fast walking. If you are not used to walking, begin with half a mile and increase the distance each week till you are walking an hour each day. High kicking is also an effective exercise to keep the muscles strong and firm. Keep the legs straight, the toes pointed, and kick just as high as you possibly can."

"Horseback riding, astride, is an excellent exercise. Various kinds of dancing, such as esthetic, folk, gymnastic, and social, not only develop these groups of muscles, but impart grace, agility, and strength."

"Many gymnastic exercises with apparatus, such as vaulting over the horse and horizontal bar, lunging upon the rings and swinging the legs forward, backward and sideways, and climbing up ropes, poles or Swedish ladders, are beneficial."

"Games like golf, tennis, bowling, basket ball, hand ball, and volley ball should be indulged in occasionally. The art of swimming should be mastered also."

"The best time to take the morning exercise is in the early morning, before breakfast restricts freedom of motion. For the average person, 10 to 20 minutes each should be sufficient. If you become sore or stiff, decrease the amount till you become stronger."

Thinks Prouty Could Win.

If newspaper comment and the casual remarks of most people whom you meet count for anything, Charles A. Prouty can be Vermont's next United States senator if he wants it. And we hope he wants it. It will make little difference on what ticket he runs. C. A. Prouty qualifies, that's all. He is Progressive enough for the Progressives, Republican enough for the Republicans and we would not be surprised if he was Democratic enough for many Democratic voters.—Barton Monitor.
